

UP-DO KNOW-HOW

Whether you're a boho bride, colourful chic, or floral and fun, your hair should be the finishing touch when it comes to making you feel your most beautiful on your most beautiful day. Style Director Kim Reed from DNA Hairdressing shares an insight when it comes to getting it right.

We are a bit wedding mad and delight in being part of someone's special day. It is a privilege to be part of someone's wedding journey and so it is important you are collaborating with a hair stylist who is interested in you and your day, not just the latest trends. Make sure your stylist's inspiration is coming from you.

For your wedding day consultation bring along hairstyles you love and those you find inspiring. Many brides create a storyboard of ideas including wedding and bridesmaid dress styles, veil and headpiece or bouquet ideas. Photographs from your dress fittings or fabric samples you have chosen are great inspiration too, as are your various wedding day locations as we aim for your hair to look stunning all day, no matter where you go.

If you're thinking of growing or changing your hair colour, give yourself plenty of time. Could hair extensions be an option?

We like to work alongside to create an overall look matched with stunning detail that complements your wedding theme and personal style. ☺

things to remember

- ✖ If you colour your hair, book your final colour a week before your wedding to ensure a fresh and vibrant tone.
- ✖ Wash and dry your hair the night before.
- ✖ On the day, wear a buttoned or zipped-up top to your appointment to make changing easy and to preserve your hairstyle.
- ✖ Bring along any hair accessories you are planning to wear, including your veil, tiara, clips and flowers for your hair.
